ALIGN YOUR BUSINESS APPLICATIONS AND TECHNOLOGY

In the business world, change is inevitable. Today's competitive business climate forces companies to maintain business and technology excellence and react more quickly than ever. To do so, it is increasingly critical to conduct an ongoing review of business applications and technology to determine if your organization is on-track to effectively meet objectives.

Periodic assessment helps you analyze, prioritize and align your business applications and technology, and then plan an appropriate course of action. At nexDimension, we know that every business is unique. We look at all aspects of your business—from identifying corporate challenges and analyzing business processes to examining how you make use of current technology. We ask the right questions. Through in-depth research and analysis, we provide insight and strategic recommendations for your organization to enhance operating effectiveness, gain competitive advantage, improve the bottom line and build a solid foundation for growth.

OUR PEOPLE SET US APART

These evaluations are best performed by an experienced outside team with a clean slate and an objective perspective. When you partner with nexDimension you are partnering with a trusted business advisor. We pride ourselves on knowing our clients and our extensive knowledge of the technology we recommend and implement. Our staff includes financial, business and technology experts, including CPAs, former CFOs and controllers, computer specialists, software developers, and implementation consultants. Every member of the nexDimension team is dedicated to providing the depth and quality of service to meet your needs.

IDENTIFY CRITICAL ISSUES FACED BY YOUR ORGANIZATION

A business applications assessment gathers information about your organization, industry and business environment. We review your business objectives and operations, and meet with key stakeholders to become familiar with the business applications and technology. We get a thorough appreciation of your business by understanding its workflow, data and financial transaction cycles. We identify key business processes within your organization and the various systems that support these operations as well as determine ownership for these processes. We listen to your needs and understand what your future plans are and where you are “taking the business.”

CAPTURE AND EVALUATE THE CURRENT STATE OF TECHNOLOGY

Technology assessment focuses on what assets are available and how technology is currently being used. First, we review your processes to see if they are in alignment with your business applications. We uncover your data and show you how it is possible to better convert it into meaningful information. We identify gaps and recommend a technology solution to support your business goals and satisfy future expectations. We determine where technology can provide a clear return on investment.

SET A STRATEGY

To achieve business growth and success, organizations must identify the right strategies and actions to make it happen. Once the discovery phase is completed, nexDimension presents its findings and offers strategic recommendations that will impact your business today and in the future.

- We provide a synopsis of how well the business applications and technology functions are being performed and how well they are being integrated into the decision-making process of the organization
- We identify areas that will generate the greatest potential improvements and highlight any short-term steps that are needed to produce immediate results
- We assess the readiness of your workforce to undertake necessary tasks and look for opportunities to redeploy resources where it is advantageous to do so.

We can also provide a comparison of the technology currently being used vs. available technology and make specific recommendations regarding how to proceed. This analysis includes developing an action plan outlining the steps to close gaps and improve overall operations as well as recommending the resources needed to support them. We will also define a timeline and anticipated costs, improvements and savings.
